20 years of the Vocational Training Act: A critical review

<https://sgab-srfp.ch/jenseits-von-versuch-und-irrtum/>

An interdisciplinary innovation project of the PH Zurich and the ZHAW is testing the potential of virtual reality (VR) for the development of vocational action competences using the example of the initial examination. In the project, the prototype of a VR learning environment for vocational trainees in the electrical industry was developed and its effect evaluated in a field study. The results indicated the potential of this technology for vocational learning.
